The J. R. Watkins Co., Memphis,

Restore Respect for Law

Prohibition has failed in Alabama.

Unless we shut our eyes to the overwhelming evidence available on every hand we must admit the fact that an intolerable condition now exists in our state with respect to the illicit sale of alcoholic beverages.

Throughout our state bootleggers ply their illegal trade. Caravans of cars bring liquor daily into Alabama from Florida and other nearby states, which have legalized its sale. Roadhouses sell it by the drink or the bottle. In many of our cities, stores are actually advertising "beer for sale" with flaunting signs and displaying rows of bottles in their windows. Juries are refusing to convict for liquor violations. In fact it has been estimated that the bootleg business in Alabama has grown to the proportions of a $25,000,000 industry!

This is an appalling situation whose greatest menace is the disrespect it breeds for all our laws.

Alabama is today the only state which still fosters the bootleg racket. It is the only state which has not legalized the sale of alcoholic beverages in some form. It is the only state which lets the sale of alcoholic beverages go tax-free.

Prohibition has failed in Alabama—not because of lack of diligence on the part of our law enforcement officers-not because of lack of law to restrain its sale, for Alabama has long had the strictest laws of any state upon its statute books-but because it is impossible to control the sale of liquor in Alabama unless a system of control shall be established to achieve that

The Alabama Beverage Control Act provides that system-a system which has been proved sane and sound in many other states and Canada, where crime is at a minimum and there is real respect for government and law.

Prohibition has failed in Alabama. Let's now try constructive control of the liquor question-the new way and modern way which has contributed so much to the solution of this age-old problem.

Vote March 10th to end the bootlegger's reign in Alabama and to restore respect for law. Vote for constructive control!
